

CellSonic

CellSonic Case Reports[©]

Professor Andrew Hague

November 2023

RAK, UAE.

cellsonic.beauty@gmail.com

Key words: cancer, stress, corruption, electrical properties of cells.

Abstract

Patient case histories reported with comments and explanations.

Introduction

There are CellSonic treatments taking place every minute of every day all around the world. We all want to know more, especially those of us making the machines. Unfortunately, we never get enough feedback for two reasons. First of all the machines are bought by customers who are running their clinics as a business and to write reports to us is an unpaid chore. Performing cures has become routine and what at first were seen as miracles has become normal. Secondly, most countries are corrupted by Big Pharma and have laws and regulations requiring only pharmaceuticals to be used in medicine with total ignorance of biophysics and the electrical properties of body cells that are controlled by the mind. CellSonic clinics are praised by their customer patients and feel threatened by regulators who are an ignorant bunch not interested in helping fellow humans.

Nevertheless, we have gathered some reports and placed them here. Much of it has to be made anonymous to protect the clinic. If you want to talk to the clinics and can assure me you are not a government paid clown, I will gladly put you in touch with our miracle makers. You need these reports so that you too can perform the treatments and get the same good results.

If you find my criticism of legislators harsh, look at the 1939 Cancer Act in Britain that forbids all advertising about cancer unless it promotes chemotherapy and nuclear radiation. This has left millions of people to die painfully prematurely, more than were killed in the war that began against Nazis in 1939. The feedback from Italy is fear of regulators where sensible discussion is impossible. These countries are democracies.

Steadily, people are finding out for themselves and the Establishment's white-coats are being shown for what they are, brainwashed fools who went to medical school and think they know everything when they know no more than how to dispense vaccines and antibiotics with the power of anaesthetics enabling more surgery than necessary. CellSonic is biophysics in one, easy to use package with a profound understanding of psychology without drugs. CellSonic is effective on chronic disease which biochemistry cannot cure, hence the term chronic.

CellSonic has no side effects. Everything we know has come from users who bought our machines to serve patients who pay for their treatments. Sales are generated by satisfied patients praising our technology. Examples are in this article.

From Canada

Canada has one of the worst medical systems in the civilized world with white coat doctors inflicting experiments and nonsense on helpless patients. Their medical journalists are a shame to their profession.

From CellSonic Ontario, Canada we have:

There was another case that I've been helping a young fellow through testicular cancer and he got a very good report this past week because of the emotional training, diet and nutrition clean up as well as the applications of the CellSonic pulses. He's very happy with his results and continues to be on the right track. They already took one testicle from him. We do not want the other one affected now. Too bad we can't relay that information publicly.

From Bay Area, California

I am receiving a lot of feedback from clients and to add to my list is a Healed liver with an original reading of 140. The test was done last week after 4 treatments and it is now at 65. We will for sure keep treating until he reaches the desired range of 32 or less. We fixed his knee pain and we are getting some "reaction" from his penis now after 5 treatments with the CS. All great news with just this one client.

From the same part of the world came a detailed account of a patient almost killed by the medical establishment and saved by CellSonic.

CellSonic treatments for "stage 4" Colorectal/Liver/Lung Cancer at one of our treasured US clinics.

Six years ago, on December 22nd 2017 the patient was diagnosed with the big "C" at age 41 after noticing blood in his urine and stool. After having a series of tests and scans he was told the devastating news of multiple tumors ranging up to 10mm in size. It came as a total shock and with the fear that set in after speaking with doctors, he went into the recommended emergency surgery that lasted 11 hours with a team of 7 doctors to remove the tumors and lymph nodes. That invasive surgery left him with a Colostomy bag for life due to removing his colon and rectum as well. They followed up with Chemotherapy & Radiation that left him and his immune system weak and broken. Somehow he survived the poison and was told he was in remission and began rebuilding his body that had depleted from all the invasive surgeries and treatments.

One and half years later after a PET scan...he was told he had cancer again, and it was now in his lungs as well. Another round of surgeries, chemo and radiation left him depressed and weak. But he had faith, was strong and recovered. He was in remission once again for approximately another year and a half. In total he endured 5 grueling surgeries, 46 horrific rounds of chemotherapy and 30 painful rounds of radiation for his 26 tumors and 17 lymph nodes over a four-year period.

After recovering from this second diagnosis, the poor man was once again told two years ago his cancer was back. Now 45 years old and realizing that the Western Medical protocol had not worked at all.

After some thought and investigation, he chose to exit the normal allopathic medical system and chose a "Natural" journey to good health. He changed everything. His diet, weight, environment, supplementation, and his choice of how to tackle this reoccurring issue. He even tried immunotherapy, but it didn't work...the tumors grew. So, after diving into alternative therapies he came across quantum healing. It was at the clinic where he began several frequency machine and ozone treatments to detox and build stronger cellular health. Ultimately Gary inquired about the CellSonic machine that the clinic had recently added. He was eager to begin after learning all about what it could do for him and his body. After approximately 5 CellSonic treatments over a month's time his cellular polarity had shifted, and the body began to heal. At about the three-month mark following the CellSonic treatments, he had another scan. This time he was told the lymph nodes have shrunk considerably and the tumors were benign! No sign of cancer. The celebration was with tears of joy and then a trip to Hawaii to let it all sink in.

Our patient is so grateful he shifted his treatments and trusted the process of natural healing. Through the years of dealing with his health, he was moved to create a business out his trials of figuring out exactly what good health takes. He created healthy juices/products to drink and detox with as well as some CBD tincture products, Hemp pet chews and more. He is committed to continuing his newfound love of good nutrition, exercise, a balanced PH, continued detoxing, positive mindset, and a healthy environment.

He knows he can keep cancer at bay and live a very healthy life...the rest of his life. He praises God for leading him in the direction that would ultimately reverse his chronic disease. He is a major fan of CellSonic as you might imagine. He has vowed to shout it from the rooftops every chance he gets and help educate others on everything he learned on his journey. CellSonic flipped the polarity of the mutated cancer cells and helped give him a fighting chance. He is so grateful for this technology and the part it played in the ultimate reversal of a chronic disease that almost took his life three times.

From Scandinavia

Another cancer case is reported from Scandinavia. A retired doctor had prostate cancer with all the medical case history from the local hospital that had treated and failed him. The CellSonic clinic that treated him is proposing to write this case as a dissertation for a PhD and maybe they will have permission to name names. The doctor came to the CellSonic clinic with a colleague he had worked with all his career. This colleague had read and studied the books by Dr Bjorn Nordenström of the Karolinska University in Stockholm who had become the Chairman of the Nobel Prize Committee. Nordenström's discovery was to insert a pin into a tumour and another pin just outside the tumour. With a handheld battery, he ran an electrical current across the pins and killed the tumour. Over three thousand patients were treated and cured. He took his ideas to the USA and was humiliated by the Big Pharma mafia. They rejected him and his career was destroyed. Nevertheless, those who did read his two books learned a lot and our patient's colleague was convinced that the electrical properties of cells was the key to cancer. CellSonic lifted the cell voltage and converted the malignant cells of his prostate gland to benign.

In July 2023, I visited the clinic where this and many other treatments had been performed. The prostate patient learned that I would be there and drove six hours to meet me. He had been told he had been cured but could not believe it. The treatment was not what he had been taught at medical school. The establishment oncologists told him that there was nothing more they could do for him. He was preparing for death. By an amazing coincidence, he met me as I was cycling to the clinic and his car pulled up alongside me, lowered the window and called to me. We chatted at the roadside. I had to assure him he was cured.

I knew what was missing. As a scientist, he needed to know that the cause of the cancer had been removed. That roadside chat is one of the greatest in my case book. I told him that he had suffered stress some years before, maybe ten years ago. His eyes rolled and he knew what had happened. Eventually he told me. It was like a bubble had been burst. The pressure was released. What had been a major upset to him may not have been to someone else but to him it was a catastrophe. The resultant stress disrupted his immune system and cancer cells grew. I told him as we stood there in the summer sunshine that both of us were getting cancer right there and then. Our body cells were replicating as they do every six weeks, on average, billions of them and a few would not be exact copies of the original cells, they would be mutations. That night, we would sleep properly and our immune system would find the wrong cells and kill them so that we would start the next day clean. Cancer is inevitable. So is stress. Cancer is a symptom of stress. Dealing with stress is essential in this modern world.

My friend was going through a revelation. He was sure that God had guided him to meet me on the road and although he could not bring himself to call his teachers at medical school charlatans, he was overjoyed for what CellSonic had done and to me especially for getting him to see that the stress he had suffered was now all in the past and he should look on the bright side for the rest of his life, realistically another thirty or forty years. He has had check-ups at the clinic and all confirm him to be cancer free. Tough for a qualified doctor to learn about biophysics after retirement but he knows it has saved his life. His employer, who still pays his pension, had brought him to the brink of death. The old man on a bicycle (me) had brought lifesaving science to the world and in half an hour he learned more than he had in eight years at medical school and a lifetime of sending patients for chemotherapy which he knew killed them.

Cycling on a bit further, I got to the clinic where there were more ex-patients waiting for me. Great joy and rewarding to be told that what I had done to create CellSonic was a gift to mankind. The next day, my front tyre had a puncture. I was still in the real world.

From the USA

A clinic in the USA sent me notes on various patients and I wrote comments. Here is the text:

CASE #1 - M.S. Case Study

42 years old, female

#1 came in when she was at a “crossroads” with her medical diagnosis. She was diagnosed with MS with lesions in her cervical spine. She feels numb and tingling down her shoulder. Her right arm and shoulder are painful. #1 was offered a new medication for MS but was guided to our clinic. We applied CellSonic on her gut for the first 4 sessions and then moved to her spine and her cervical spine. We repeat the session once a week using level 4 for 350-750 pulses depending on what her muscle test is advising us to do. We need to pay more attention to her emotions and offer more support. If #1 misses a week or two, she begins to feel her symptoms coming back.

* After today’s meeting with Dr. Hague, it confirmed that I do indeed need to work with her emotional trauma so her cells can maintain the charge. On going Success story.

*

Prof Hague comments:

Multiple Sclerosis is benefitting from CellSonic treatments according to reports coming in from many countries. There are no drugs that help which is to be expected when the disease is neither an infection nor a chemical deficiency. The cell voltages are down caused by stress and depression and kept down by the depressing effects of MS. CellSonic will give the patient hope and that along with positive discussions will keep the cell voltage high. The treatment will take many months and with the patient unemployed due to the inability to work there is a problem of paying for the treatments. Some clinics are providing the treatment for free to see if they can help and having started feel bound to carry on especially when they see the improvements.

CASE #2- Gout
68 years old, male

#2 came in with really bad spouts of gout. He enjoys his wine and cigars but doesn't detox regularly. Protocol for gout is 3 treatments every 2 weeks. We followed the protocol but felt he needed just one more session. Instead of 3, I encouraged him to do 4. He did and the gout has yet to come back in over a year. Success story.

Professor Hague comments:

Gout has long been known to be treatable with CellSonic. The particles are shattered and the vascularization improved in the extremities. Patient has to learn to manage themselves better which they probably will not and that's how they acquired the problem.

CASE #3 - Kidney Issues
35 years old female

#3 came in with bladder issues. Had kidney surgery as a child and has always had "kidney" problems. #3 would have to use the restroom every 30 min and would often wet herself. We started to work on her kidneys and she instantly felt a difference with her bladder. She was able to empty her bladder easily and not have to go as often.

Professor Hague comments:

Our technology has evolved from breaking kidney stones (lithotripsy) so compatibility with the kidneys is to be expected. At a much lower power than a lithotripter, CellSonic is healing the kidneys and as the treatment continues their proper function will return. So often we hear of surgery making a problem worse. CellSonic can be described as non-invasive surgery.

CASE #4 - Old broken ankle injury 63 years old, female

#4 came in reporting an old injury from breaking both ankles. Her right foot never properly healed and always “clicked” when she walked with pain and inflammation always an issue that she just “dealt with”. One session, energy level 7, 550 pulses, on and around the ankle. #4 reported relief right away; pain and clicking just stopped. 4 months later update- just after one treatment, her right ankle is completely better and back to normal.

Professor Hague comments:

These orthopaedic and physiotherapy applications are where CellSonic began decades ago. They are classed as sports injuries. As the machine is easy to use, coaches at sports clubs are using them to keep the players in action. They can also increase muscle strength.

CASE #5 - M.S. Case Study 15 years old, female

#5 was experiencing tremendous depression, anxiety and exhaustion. Never wanted to get out of bed and had no energy to participate in anything. Was on depression medicine but didn’t notice a difference. After #5 decided to wean herself safely off the medication guided by her doctor, we performed the depression protocol (along with magnetic therapy, vagus nerve fork tuning and other emotional support sessions) and she has felt wonderful ever since. It was even reported she’s excited for the new school year. CellSonic Level 6, 1000 pulses along, up and down the spine.

Professor Hague comments;

This is good news. Drugs do not work and even her doctors know this. CellSonic and other methods have revitalized the girl. Very likely she is intelligent. She is sensitive and this can lead to depression in the modern world where isolation and torrents of bad news cause breakdowns. Hopefully, if she feels down again, she will come back for help and not go down the escape-drugs fatal path.

CASE #6 - Arthritis

42 years old, female

#6 had a horrible car accident and ever since then has had arthritis in her lower back. Lately, as her life becomes more stressful, the pain is beginning to spread to her upper shoulders and neck. I explained to #6 that this is 99.99% emotional. She agreed. She has had a very lonely life with a lot of “family” issues. Yearns for a family and has reported being tired of “doing life alone”. I have recognized that she has a lot of emotional trauma and pain from her past which triggers her arthritis. She was depressed before the car crash which made a bad condition worse and knows she has to release memories. We are slowly helping her with a Neurovizr session to help re-wire the brain while also building new neuropathways to support her new ways of thinking and believing.

Typically, once or every other week we do CellSonic level 7, 550 pulses on lower back to neck and right shoulder, Hocatt session for lymphatic system and anxiety and or the Neurovizr Theta Program to re-wire and “create”.

Professor Hague comments:

Arthritis is known to be a consequence of stress. The problem had begun before the car crash which then exacerbated the deterioration. CellSonic aimed at the painful areas helps them recover and shifting from negative to positive thoughts is the main fundamental change. Once again we see CellSonic being well applied by an understanding therapist who deals with the cause of the problem.

CASE #7 - Mitochondria disorder

16 years old, female

#7 was brought to us to see if we can assist in this little girl's disease. Her mitochondria is "missing pieces" as if some of her mitochondria was "deleted". She has been experiencing organ failure, hard to communicate, on dialysis, was eating through feeding tube and in a wheelchair. Her body's growth has been stunted and is the size of a 7-year-old girl. We have been going very slowly and gently with her. Doing mostly magnet work, getting her body strong to work up to the CellSonic treatments. Today was the first day she received a treatment on her spine. From the top of her spine to the mid spine. Started treating in May 2023.

First Cellsonic - 8/22 level 2 250 Pulses top of spine to mid back. She is seeing color for the first time in years.

waited a week in between next CellSonic session.

Has a desire to get colored accessories such as wanting a yellow purse, Muscle Testing said that she needed to wait a week in between each session.

9/7 second CellSonic - Level 2, 250 pulses for stomach

level 2 - 100 pulses at the base of her neck

Reported seeing colors twice more that week.

This is a huge accomplishment, as #7 hasn't seen colors in more than a couple years. This is a HUGE milestone for her.

Professor Hague comments:

The cause of the problem is not clear but the improvement is. No drugs or surgery have been used. Very likely, some damage occurred at birth compounded by emotional trauma. That we may never know the cause is not a problem because now a safe way to help has been found.

CASE #8- Breast Cancer and Lymph Cancer
61 years old, female

#8 lives out of state and decided to come own for an extensive 10-day treatment plan. Lymph cancer affecting white blood cells, where she can't take chemo pill due to the ability of her immune system to handle it. Her main goal for this treatment is to get her white blood cell count up so she can take her chemo pill for her breast cancer. They reported there is nothing they "can do" for her lymph cancer, we did the CellSonic over her entire lymph system and on both breasts. The right breast with a mass and the left breast with markers. #8 reported feeling amazing after her first session. Didn't feel any discomfort until I got into her right breast mass. "Felt like a bruise" after first treatment.

left side lymph 300 pulses, level 7
right side lymph 300 pulses, level 7
spine level 7, 300 pulses

left side lymph 300 pulses, level 7
right side lymph 300 pulses, level 7
spine level 7, 300 pulses

left side lymph 300 pulses, level 7
right side lymph 300 pulses, level 7
left breast (marker) 250 pulses, level 7
right breast with mass 400 pulses, level 6

#8 reported that she got her white blood count up, the doctors were shocked and surprised and allowed her to start her 10% 2 days a week chemo pill. This was her goal and she was extremely impressed and grateful for this outcome. We did get into the emotional aspect of this and she is going to come back after treatment to help detox and work on emotional root cause of the discomfort and imbalance within her body.

Professor Hague comments:

Chemotherapy in any form must never be used. It is deadly poisonous and has no application in medicine. It has been banned in warfare where it is known as mustard gas. The sooner chemo becomes illegal, the better. Any doctor recommending it is displaying ignorance or worse.

If chemo has been used on a patient, allow four weeks to pass before using CellSonic to avoid opening the cells too fast and hastening death by poisoning.

Cancer is an electrical fault which CellSonic can correct. Chemicals do not work on electrical faults.

The cell voltage is controlled by the mind and this patient's depressions are the root cause which she admits. CellSonic lifts the voltage and an intuitive therapist supports the positive mindset.

CASE #9- Long lasting cough

21 years old, female

#8 got sick with a cold. #8 doesn't know if it was covid, because she doesn't test for covid. But the cough wouldn't go away. Level 7, 350 pulses on the back, at the lungs and right under the lungs, both sides. Cough was drastically better the next day, a lot less coughing and then the next day was completely gone.

Professor Hague comments:

All's well that ends well. There was an infection and the CellSonic pulses killed the germs. We do not know what they were and do not need to know. Note that the treatment was safe, unlike drugs which always have side effects.

Maybe it was covid. We have many reports of covid being stopped by a CellSonic treatment. It takes less time than a test.

Conclusion

I often think I am in the wrong job. Ordinary doctors seem to be unaware of their patients' feelings. They spend ten minutes with them, prescribe a drug and move on. I can't do that. The patient's problems haunt me and make me realise that I too could end up in the same mess. These suffering people are not careless or stupid. Somehow, they have been caught up in modern day stress and they cannot break free. If I carry on worrying, will I too be stricken with cancer and all the rest?

The same seems to be happening to the therapists in CellSonic clinics. None of them have the brush-off attitude of white coats and when we talk on Skype the conversations are often an hour or more. The patients they are looking after become part of my family and theirs. Often, I am then asked to talk with the patient and tell them, like I told the retired doctor at the roadside, that they have been cured and by holding a positive view of life from now on, they will remain well. Will they? They worry and I do too.

I tell them how I manage and am now realising that I am older than them. They think I keep myself healthy with a CellSonic machine. I don't. I have a different machine and that intrigues them. It has pedals on it. It is my bicycle. It carries me to freedom. No smartphone. No tracking device. I go where I want not listening to anything but the sound of nature. In all governments, the Minister of Health is held responsible for the nation's health which is nonsense because the minister is only there to promote Big Pharma. It is the Minister of Transport who should and could do more for health. Stop supporting cars and instead design cycle tracks to let cyclists commute safely from home to work and the shops. I ride in all weathers and with pannier bags on a rear carrier can carry shopping from the supermarket. After the morning's emails have been answered, I escape for at least two hours every day. This will not go on forever. When I am a hundred, I will retire and go cycling all the time. My daughter will be running the company.

And that's the recipe for everyone: a CellSonic treatment, a medical intuitive to untangle memories and a bicycle for travelling. Roll over Rockefeller!

References

Absolute references to the patients are not possible due to patient confidentiality.

The background is explained in the websites <https://cellsonic-medical.com/> and <https://www.cellsonic-beauty.com/cellulite.htm>

Contact: sales@cellsonic-medical.com

CellSonic

