

VIPP

The CellSonic medical machine generates VIPP which means Very Intense Pressure Pulses.

VIPP enables changes to body cells without drugs or surgery. This is non-invasive tissue regeneration without side effects.

VIPP is not to be confused with shockwaves which are slower and less effective.

CellSonic developed its own technology and in the last two years has seen healing results far superior to anything else be they drugs or machines so the question arises, how is CellSonic better?

The answer is that the entire chain of events in electronics, metallurgy and chemistry that generate VIPP has been refined. It is the sum total of details that have made CellSonic a superior healing machine.
